INTRODUCTION

THE present work, of which the first volume is now issued, deals only with the printed books in the General Library of the University: the Departmental and Class Libraries are therefore not represented in it.

It is to be regarded as an Author-Catalogue, that is to say, the books are arranged, as far as possible, under the names of their authors, whether individual or corporate, and not under their subjects. In its preparation the 'Cataloguing rules . . . compiled by Committees of the American Library Association and of the Library Association' (London, 1908) have been followed in the main, but various modifications have been admitted and rigid consistency has not infrequently been sacrificed to what seemed common-sense and expediency.

Any detailed formulation of these rules would be superfluous here, but the following brief hints regarding certain classes of books and forms of name may prove useful to those who wish to consult the Catalogue:—

Anonymous works are entered under the author's name, if the authorship has been discovered. In each case a reference to the author is given from the title of the work or so much of the title as is necessary for identification. If the author is unknown, the entry is under the title, except in a few cases where it would naturally be looked for under the name of a person or a place. Square brackets enclosing the author's name in a heading or the line representing the name ([—]) indicate that the work in question is anonymous.

Pseudonymous works are entered under the author's real name when this is known, except in a small number of cases where the pseudonym is much more familiar and would be naturally looked for. A cross-reference is given from the name not chosen. Where the pseudonym consists merely of initials and the author's name has not been discovered, the entry is made under the title of the work; when the authorship is known, a cross-reference has been made from the final initial to the full name.

Government publications are, in the case of Great Britain, entered under the Department by which they are issued, as the main heading. In the case of England, Scotland, and Ireland, as individual countries, and in the case of foreign countries, the name of the country forms the main heading and that of the Department the sub-heading. Other official publications are to be looked for under their corporate authors. Liturgies and official publications of religious bodies are entered under the most familiar English form of the name of the body.

Periodicals are entered under their titles. The non-periodical publications of learned Societies are entered under these Societies.

Local and charitable Societies and Institutions are to be looked for under the name of the place where they are situated.

The books of the Bible are to be found under the general heading Bible, and are arranged in the order of the Authorised Version. Commentaries on the Bible are entered under the names of the commentators.

Library Catalogues of printed books are entered under the Library, but catalogues of manuscripts, descriptive catalogues of Natural history or other collections, etc., are entered under the name of the compiler.

University theses prior to the year 1800 are entered under the praeses, with a cross-reference from the respondent ; those of later date are entered under the respondent.

Change of Name. When an author has changed his name, the later form is preferred for the main heading. The same rule holds good in the case of married women.

Noblemen and legal dignitaries are entered under their titles unless they are much better known by their family name.

Foreign names preceded by a simple preposition are entered under the part following the preposition, but when preceded by an article or a combination of the article and preposition they are entered under the prefix.

Epithets. Where there are two or more authors of the same name, descriptive epithets have been supplied to distinguish them ; and in the case of noblemen, churchmen, etc., of the higher ranks the titular epithets have been given. Both these types of epithet are to be distinguished from the epithets supplied for the purpose of showing in what relation—as, for example, that of editor, compiler, etc.—an author stands towards a particular work. Epithets of the latter kind are generally abbreviated and are printed without the initial capital used in the case of the former.

The modified vowels ä, ö, ü are arranged as if written out ae, oe, ue.

In the case of incunabula detailed entries have not as a rule been made, but references have been given to the standard bibliographies where full descriptions of the works in question are to be found. The chief of these are :—

Hain.	Hain (L.). Repertorium bibliographicum. 4 pts. Stuttgart, 1826–38.
Copinger	Copinger (W. A.). Supplement to Hain's Repertorium bibliographicum. 3 vols. Lond., 1895–1902.
Reichling.	Reichling (D.). Appendices ad Hainii-Copingeri Repertorium bibliographicum. 3 vols. Monachii, 1904–1911.
Proctor.	Proctor (R.). An index to the early printed books in the British Museum. 3 pts. Lond., 1898–1903.
Campbell.	Campbell (M. F. A. G.). Annales de la typographie néerlandaise au XV. siècle. La Haye, 1874–90.
Pellechet.	Pellechet (M.). Catalogue général des incunables des bibliothèques publiques de France. Tom. 1— Paris, 1897—

Continuations. A dash after the volume-number and after the date indicates that the work in question is still in the course of publication.

The sizes of the books have been only roughly indicated by the fold symbols 2°, 4°, 8°, etc.

From considerations of space it was deemed advisable to limit the number of cross-references, and accordingly no such references have been made from editors, translators, writers of forewords, etc., except in cases where their inclusion seemed likely to facilitate the finding of the main entry.

In the case of books which have been presented to the Library the name of the donor is given in italics at the end of the title ; or if the work belongs to a collection of books presented or bequeathed, the particular collection is similarly noted. The most important collections of this kind are :—

Clement Litil.—The collection of theological and law books bequeathed by Clement Litil or Little in 1580 ‘ to the Town of Edinburgh ’ and transferred by the Town Council to the College in 1584. Each of these volumes bears on the title-page, together with the donor’s coat of arms, a printed inscription, reading ‘ I am gevin to Edinburgh and Kirk of God be Maister Clement Litil thair to reman. 1580.’ A list of the books may be found in the ‘ Cathalogus librorum quos vir eximius et beatae memoriae, Magister Clemens Litill, Edinburgene Ecclesie et ministris ejusdem obiens legavit et consecravit. MDLXXX,’ as extracted from the Records of the Town Council of Edinburgh and published in the ‘ Miscellany of the Maitland Club,’ vol. i, 1834.

Drummond Coll.—The collection presented ‘ to the Library of Edinburgh ’ by William Drummond of Hawthornden in 1626. A number of additions were made to this by Drummond at a later date. A catalogue of the original collection was published by Principal J. Adamson under the title ‘ Auctarium Bibliothecae Edinburgenae, sive catalogus librorum quos Guilielmus Drummondus ab Hawthornden Bibliothecae D. D. Q. anno 1627. Edinburgi, 1627.’ A facsimile reprint of this was issued in 1815 by David Laing.

J. Nairne.—The collection bequeathed in 1678 by the Rev. James Nairne, of Wemyss, in Fife. Of these books also a printed catalogue was issued, entitled ‘ Catalogus librorum quibus Bibliothecam Academiae Jacobi Regis Edinburgenae adauxit R. D. Jacobus Narnius, Pastor Vaemiensis. Edinburgi, 1678.’

H.-P. Coll.—The collection of Shakespearean works presented by James Orchard Halliwell, afterwards Halliwell-Phillipps, in 1872, and considerably augmented by him later on.

Laing Coll.—The collection bequeathed by David Laing, LL.D., in 1879. This consisted mainly of manuscripts, but a certain number of printed books were included in it.

W. B. Hodgson.—The collection of books on political economy formed by Professor William Ballantine Hodgson and presented to the University by his widow in 1880.

Cameron Coll.—The collection from the library of the Celtic scholar, Dr. Cameron of Brodrick, presented by Sir William Mackinnon, Balinakill, in 1889.

Blackie Coll.—The collection of modern Greek books bequeathed by Professor John Stuart Blackie in 1895.

R. Goodsir.—The collection bequeathed by Dr. Robert A. Goodsir in 1895.

Cleghorn Beq.—The collection of books on forestry presented by Major Sprot in the name of Dr. Hugh Cleghorn of Strathvithie in 1895.

Geikie Beq.—The collection bequeathed by Dr. Cunningham Geikie in 1910.

Mackay Beq.—The collection bequeathed in 1911 by Sheriff Aeneas J. G. Mackay, at one time Professor of Constitutional History in the University.

Forbes Beq.—The collection of books on the Philippine Islands bequeathed in 1917 by Mr. Daniel Mackintosh Forbes.

The note Reid Beq. at the end of a title indicates that the work in question was purchased out of an annual sum set aside for Library purposes, in 1846 and subsequent years, from the bequest made to the University by General John Reid.

Fraser Beq. indicates that the work was obtained from an annual fund available for the purchase of certain classes of books in terms of a bequest made by Sir William Fraser, K.C.B., LL.D.

The note Mag. Cand. (i.e. Magisterii Candidati) shows that the book in question was contributed to the Library by the candidates for the degree of Master of Arts, in accordance with an old University custom which held good for the greater part of the seventeenth century.

Finally it is only fair to acknowledge the great help which has been received in the preparation of this work from the ' British Museum Catalogue of Printed Books,' to which constant reference has been made and from which much bibliographical information has been obtained. The ' Catalogue of the London Library ' (1913) has also proved very useful. To Dr. James Kennedy, Librarian of the New College, Edinburgh, the thanks of the University Library Committee are due for the valuable assistance which he has kindly given in tracing the authorship of anonymous works.
